NROTC PREPARATORY PROGRAM (NPP) SCHOLARSHIP

A Different Way to Prepare You for ROTC Success

Some students show great promise through their grades, activities, and character. Yet, their standardized test scores and/or financial challenges limit their ability to compete for and commission through traditional Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) scholarships. Does this sound like you?

The NROTC Preparatory Program (NPP) at Regent University opens access and prepares you for success to earn a commission in the Navy. In fact, the very mission of this program is to enhance midshipman candidates' moral, mental, and physical foundations.

Benefits You'll Enjoy as an NPP Scholarship Recipient Include:

Tuition, fees, and on-campus room and board for a one-year NROTC preparation program as midshipman candidate.

Guaranteed NROTC scholarships for up to four additional years, based on successful completion of the NPP.

Regent University – Navy Partnership

Through the NPP, Regent University will take you through a life-changing year of gaining excellent educational traction, as well as a principled foundation. At the same time, you'll be mentored and trained by the Navy. Together, we'll prepare you for NROTC and leadership success.
